Brownstoner brings artist Ian Ferguson's world of classic New York architecture to the wall. Every building is intricately illustrated from Ferguson's strolls around Brooklyn, carefully observing the aesthetics of Gothic architecture and the wonderful tiny cafes, delis, bars, and laundromats that define the life and characteristics of the historic city.

The Skunk colorway portrays the city in black and white with a bit of funk, just the way we like it.

Brooklyn-based artist, illustrator, and designer Ian Ferguson AKA Hydeon carefully observes his surroundings, filters them through his unique perspective, and expertly illustrates them in ink on paper. His work's characters, architecture, and imagery are conduits for telling stories and sharing ideas.

Digitally printed to order in the USA.
