FLAVOR PAPER

Rex Ray's retro-futuristic collage, Cocobolo, is a dynamic blend of shapes and compositions that resemble birds, fish, flowers, fireworks, and more. Let your mind wander and contemplate the fun, colorful design, which has textures ranging from spongy ink to jewel-toned wood grain.

The Navy colorway has a sophisticated dark blue wood grain background that allows the vibrant, playful elements to pop.

Rex Ray was a San Francisco-based artist whose technique involved a complicated process that combined Xerography, handmade woodblock prints, newsprint, and magazine images into vibrant color schemes with parabolic forms and abstract patterns. His works reference mid-century modernism, Dada, and Pop Art.

Digitally printed to order in the USA.
